

Reflection

Flaget Center, operated by the Roman Catholic Archdiocese of Louisville since November 1987, has multiple uses as a retreat center, conference facility and office building. Over the past twenty years, thousands of visitors have passed through the hallways of The Flaget Center in search of team building and a place to plan, pray and build community. The Flaget Center offers guests comfortable meeting rooms and accommodations in a reflective, quiet and professional atmosphere.

Visiting, guests create bonds that last a lifetime, and most importantly, they find a nourishing partnership with God, our Creator.

Whatever your group's needs may be, the Flaget Center staff is here to assist you in making your event a success.

"A big thank you...Your staff was tremendous and the space was excellent. We could not have asked for a better weekend, or better service."

Greetings

The Flaget Center Staff welcomes the opportunity to work with you to plan your next event. We serve local, national and international groups. Whether your group is an educational or professional group, a church, a non-profit or a for-profit organization, we will assist you in every way to make your event a complete success.

Numerous educational, professional, non-profit, for-profit and church-related organizations have come to the Flaget Center for retreats, days of reflection, planning sessions or team building events.

We can assist you in your search for a private, quiet, and restful location. Guests return year after year, expressing their appreciation for the friendly atmosphere and spiritual ambience.

“Catholic Conference of Kentucky has conducted statewide education meetings and Health Care Summits at the Flaget Center. The Flaget Center provides a warm atmosphere to meet and learn. Its staff is welcoming and at your service.”

Ed Monohan, Dept. of Public Advocacy
